The core statutory protections of the Violence Against Women Act (VAWA) prohibit denial or termination of assistance or eviction solely because an applicant or tenant is a victim of domestic violence, dating violence, sexual assault, or stalking. VAWA applies to all survivors: regardless of age, sex, gender identity, race, national origin, familial status, disability, and sexual orientation and offers protections to individuals affiliated with victims including spouses, parents, siblings, children, and anyone residing in the household.

Program participants are required under VAWA to receive the below documents:

- VAWA Notice of Occupancy Rights (Form HUD-5380)
- VAWA Certification of Domestic Violence, Dating Violence, Sexual Assault, or Stalking, and Alternative Documentation (Form HUD-5382)

I certify that I have received the documents listed above. I have been provided the opportunity to ask questions and have those questions answered satisfactorily.
